Griffin Necklace - 20€ + VAT 13%

Over 4,000 years ago, in ancient Messinia, King Nestor had adopted the griffin to be his royal symbol. With the head of an eagle, the ruler of the sky and the body of a lion, the griffin was seen throughout history as the king of all animals and as a symbol of protection. The design derives from figurative drawings, wall paintings and motifs found in the palace of King Nestor in Pylos, the best preserved palace of the ancient Mycenaean era.

* available as additional art object in big carton and wooden boxes.
