

NextGenCH (≤ 40) is happy to invite you to our next event:

WQ is the new IQ

WQ, a new way to think about competence. In today's globalized world, you can't compete by only excelling on traditional indicators such as IQ and EQ. Instead, your success depends on your understanding of different cultures and people – your WQ or World Quotient.

We are very happy to invite you to take part of this evening co-hosted by NextGen CH and, EF Education First. Join us to engage in insightful dialogues and learn from each other on the topic of WQ.

Education First:

The international education industry is currently worth USD50 billion and growing by almost 30 percent each year. As the world leader in international education, EF Education First is paving new roads for learning – using technology, research and design. EF is an entrepreneurial, innovative, dynamic and international organization employing 52,000 people across 115 countries.
