WEEKENDS

Event name: The Sunday Roast @ Qwerty

Venue: Qwerty

Description: Qwerty's Sunday Roast: Guess what? We're bringing a classic to Qwerty, and it's about time. Because Sundays were made for lazy feasting, warm banter, and just one more Yorkshire pudding. We've taken a little trip through time, back to the 15th century, when the Brits decided Sundays should be all about slow-roasted meats, crispy roasties, and hearty helpings of happiness. The result? A curated yet unpretentious feast with all the trimmings crafted by Chef Thomas Smeeth. Start with a choice of sausage rolls, a dirty martini prawn cocktail, or the soup of the day. Then, onto the main event: roast beef, roast lamb, or a mix of both, served with all the trimmings, perfectly crisp roast potatoes, glazed carrots, seasonal vegetables, red cabbage with cranberries, and, of course, a Yorkshire pudding. If you've got room, end on a sweet note with either our sustainable bread & butter pudding or a proper British trifle. Sundays are made for sharing, so bring your friends, your mum, and even your four-legged bestie (yes, the terrace is pet-friendly). We've even got special dog-friendly ice cream, because good boys and girls deserve a treat too. This isn't just food, it's a tradition. No fuss, no pretense, just good food, good company, and a damn good roast. See you on Sunday. Bring an appetite.
