

Ashish Seta

Senior Client Director

Project managed to deliver compensation benchmarks for a large petrochemical company across its operations in over 30 countries

Assisted in delivering a the compensation and benefits restructuring exercise for a large national oil company

Supported the delivery on compensation and benefits structure design for a known banking conglomerate

Led a project to assess the leadership style and organization climate of a national transportation company

Mr. Seta is a Senior Client Director with Korn Ferry Products Group with over nine years of experience supporting organizations across sectors in the Middle East on their reward strategies, delivering successful projects to major public and private corporations in Saudi Arabia, UAE, Kuwait and the Levant region.

Mr. Seta's work involves complex review of the organizations current reward framework, salary scales, and benefits. He provides recommendations for synchronizing their practices alongside market trends to attract and retain new talent. He is responsible for managing 'Remuneration surveys,' with a client base of over 700 organizations.

Mr. Seta holds a master's of business administration in marketing from Mumbai Educational Trust. Prior to joining Korn Ferry, Mr. Seta started his career in India where he worked for a leading fast moving consumer goods brand, followed by a stint with a real estate firm as a marketing and business development manager.

