

Nicole Malick

Ms. Nicole Malick is an international social worker recognized for her ability to effectively design and lead programs that address sustainability, gender equality, peace building, human trafficking, and community development. Nicole's fourteen years of international experience, spans the Middle East, Asia, and East Africa. Ms. Malick has experience working with governments, civil society organizations and multi-national companies, most notably with the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), and Her Royal Highness Princes Basma's youth centers. Ms. Malick served on numerous boards, including: Protect The People, a Washington DC based non-profit that empowers people affected by crisis, the UAE UN Global Compact, B One Foundation, and as a Steering Committee Member for the UN's Roll Back Malaria's Strategic Communications Partner Committee.

She is a recipient of two USAID Meritorious Honors Awards, a U.S. Department of State Meritorious Group Award, and received a service medal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) for her work in Afghanistan. Ms. Malick holds a dual Bachelor of Arts degree in Administration of Criminal Justice and Psychology, and a Masters' in Social Work. Ms. Malick holds a social work license in New Jersey, US, and she was nominated as an official Mentor for the National Network for Social Work Management for her commitment to international social work. Ms. Malick is currently a Visiting Lecturer at Middlesex University, Dubai in the Law and Political Science Department. She works as a consultant to high net worth individuals on philanthropy investment, and in a consulting role with the Dubai Government.